The question of the banner having to be taken down from a democratic building created considerable flutter, especially among republicans, and was the subject of general street talk. In fact a number of democrats expressed regrets that it had been done. We have information from Mr. Bart Childress of a homicide which One Hand Fire Engine, in good order. occurred at Sevierville late last Saturday evening, by which a colored man, whose name we could not learn, was killed in a most brutal manner by an old colored man and his son. The murdered man, it seems, had married a daughter of the old man and was accustomed to mistreating her. > On the subject of a Louisville connection with Knoxville, the Courier-

There is every indication that the Louisville and Nashville company will shortly begin work on the Knoxville branch and push it to completion. The money now invested in that enterprise practically earns nothing directly or indirectly. The branch end is in the wood; completed to Knoxville it would soon secure a paying business of its own. Besides, the opening of the Cincinnati Southern makes the completion of the Knoxville branch necessary, without that territory is to be surrendered to Cincinnati. These considerations, with others, have been urged on the directory, and it is now reasonably certain the Knoxville branch will be built in accordance with the original plans slightly modified. Louisville is pledged to give $800,000 of her bonds in exchange for the stock when the ties are ready for the iron, and for these bonds she is to receive stock in the road. It is a disputed question whether she would be entitled to the old stock or the new. If to the old, then it is not supposed that the road would avail itself of the subscription, as it could better afford to build the branch with its own funde. So it is probable the extention will be made with ut any assistance from Louisville. branches. With a road > Knoxville

Texas, Louisville-would be satisfied. What has been known as the "Dalton branch' of the E. T., V. & G. railraod is no morr. By a change of schedule, which went into effect Sunday, the Selms, Rome & Datin rallroad, which is now under the same management and a continuation of the E. T., V. & G. road, runs its tains through from Seima to Cleveland, instead of stopping at Dalton. This makes Dalton a way station and elevates Cleveland to a station of greater importance. The three engines, other rolling stook and men from the Dalton branch have been taken off and put on the main line, where they were much needed. The change of schedule on the E I., Va. and Ga. railroad went into ef. fect Sanday. The night passenger train, west, arrives at Knoxville at TUESD ... Y EVENING, 3:16 a. m. instead of 2:48. The passenger train, east, gets here at 11:46 p. m. instead of 11:54. There is no change in the mixed trains, except that the eastern bound train getting here at
